PROJECT TO OPEN THE BEAR RIVER COALFIELD

Mr. George J. Hammond in the City for Purpose of Developing Coalfield.

For the purpose of meeting the pulp and paper magnates who are expected here tomorrow, Mr. George J. Hammond is in the city from Vancouver. Mr. Hammond is the principal in the Bear River coalfield project, in which he is the largest owner. This property is a natural coal basin lying on the Bear River. The engineers' report on this field show that it is of large extent and that the coal is excellent for steam purposes.

The operation of the pulp mill here will necessitate the development of this coal property at an early date.
Surveys for a line of railway to the coalfield have already been run by Mr. F. P. Burden.

EATS FISH THAT IS SEVEN YEARS OLD

Inventor Says He Has Discovered a Process of Preserving Fish for Indefinite Period.

An electrical process for the preservation of fish for an indefinite period, and in such a manner as to maintain all its nutritive qualities is an invention of a fish merchant in Grimsby, England, that has attracted considerable attention.

The fresh fish is apparently submitted to a process which instantly drives every particle of moisture out of it, and makes it as dry as a bone, and as hard as a rock. In this condition it is impervious to the ravages of time, yet on being immersed in water for three days it becomes like fresh fish again.

While the scheme has not been demonstrated in this country, the inventor has secured patents in all countries, and is apparently satisfied with the success of his invention.
The value of the invention, it is suggested, lies in the fact that the great quantities of fish caught, and hitherto wasted, or thrown back into the sea because of a glut or because of no market at all, can be rapidly cured and made available for sale throughout the country at a cheap rate.

In its dried form it seems the fish can be milled to a fine flour, which, the inventor says, upon being mixed with water, assumes the properties of the original fish.

As indicating a revival of interest in mining in Cariboo, a movement is now on foot to organize the Cariboo Miners' Association to encourage mining and the mineral development for the district, says the Cariboo Observer of Quesnel.
