A Part of Our FUTURE

The Innovation Resource Centre provides confidential coaching to assist clients in turning their technology ideas into businesses.

- Managing Intellectual Property:
Ideas need to be protected before taking them to market. Our advisors will explain what each form of protection is designed to do and guide inventors on the road to success.
- Business Coaching:
Technical people often need help with developing and implementing a strategy for their business. Our team of experts work with a client to help them develop strategic business and marketing plans.
- Making Connections:
Business owners and inventors need to understand the commercialization process and be up-to-date on new technology impacting business. We link clients with industry and education to meet these needs.

"The Innovation Resource Centre has been a valuable resource, assisting us in finding technical information for our organization," says Todd Walker of Northern Milltech Inc. NMI is a local company that sells moisture sensors in Canada, the US, and Australia.

Currently, the Innovation Resource Centre has been working to help forest technology businesses exhibiting at Forest Expo in making connections to establish a presence in the Northern Interior of British Columbia. Our goal is to accelerate the company's ability to meet the strategic partners and customers they need to become successful. Through the IRC and the online Northern Business Connector, they will have access to seven great services, resources and advice.

If you would like to find out more about the Innovation Resource Centre or to talk with one of our business coaches, please stop by our booth at Forest Expo 2000.
