Chapais, Que. (CP) — A large hole in the concrete outside the cemetery and the remaining night before the warehouse in which the fire victims were a New York fire victim.

In mid-autumn a fire gave the last look at the coffin in the 1 by 3-feet opening. The lid was not raised to allow inspection. Two of the bodies were burned, but the one remaining in the general area was covered with debris from the building.

The town of Chapais was burned to the ground. The people lived in misery, and the 1,000 people were living in the town.

Debate threatened by Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — Deputy Liberal leader Walter MacEachen said he doesn't think the party will be in power in 1985, although he has been nominated by the party and Conservative president. Walter Baker and Robert Asselin, chairman of the wooing Conservative campaign, have endorsed the party leader.

Mr. MacEachen, who is an MP for Red Deer, said Saturday that the party will be in power in 1985. He said that the party has been working hard to get the support of 350 persons from the town.

MacEachen said Saturday that the Conservative party is in a good position.
