Turcotte preliminary hearing set

The 42-year-old Vanderhoof man now facing three charges of second degree murder will have his preliminary hearing over eight days this fall and winter.

Thomas Alexander Turcotte will be in B.C. Supreme Court set for four days beginning November 21 and another four days, beginning December 12.

That hearing will determine if the Crown has sufficient evidence to send Mr. Turcotte to trial before a jury in B.C. Supreme Court.

On the morning of May 4, Vanderhoof Mounties and members of the RCMP North District Serious Crime Unit headed to a ranch south of Vanderhoof. Two ranch hands, 50-year-old Terry Price and 29-year-old Kim Martindale, were dead and a third man, 70-year-old Aale "Andy" Heikkila, was seriously injured. He was taken to Victoria in serious condition, where he later died. Mr. Turcotte faces three charges of second degree murder, as well as other charges.
