

As you can see, the sights were incredible as I saw these proud, excited people perform in front of the crowd. There is something that should be said about pride, as it is truly a beautiful thing. The performers that displayed their talents that night had been practicing for weeks to show the crowd what they can do, and you could tell. While a part of me is glad that there will be no more loud music right beside the office throughout the night, a large part of me will miss it. It is not everyday that you can see something for the first time, and I'm happy to say that those who organized Diwali gave me the opportunity to do so.

To those who were unable to attend this years Diwali, you must take the opportunity. The performers are such talented and passionate people, and they deserve the credit. I would like to personally thank Karm Shah for documenting the event and providing amazing photos. I hope by him doing so, the performances will be remembered forever.
