

Hey guys,

This is the part of the magazine where scary stuff happens such as the sharing of the opinions that you may or may not approve of.

While it is really disappointing to have had people upset by the work published in The Confluence, I do stand by all of the work. I won't force writers to censor themselves if their work has terrible words such as "penis" or "vagina."

All in all, the opinions shared in the magazine are not specifically shared by the magazine. However, I approved them to be published. Cover your eyes if you want, and vet the things your children read if that's your concern.

sincerely,

Damon Robinson
Editor-in-Chief of the Confluence.
