

tively share your work without having to carry around an 11x17 magazine. This is my attempt at doing so, and I'm excited to get everything started.

I have learned a lot over the past year, and I am proud to have developed a high-quality magazine that showcases talented work done by students here at the college. I fully intend on maintaining that quality while improving on the foundation that we have developed over the year.

HERE'S WHAT WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR:

ART

Graphic art, portrait art.. all art! We are always looking for people who want to submit their artistic work to the Confluence. During my three years, I have seen tons of artists who haven't had the platform to show off their amazing art. I look to change that.

ARTICLES

Articles are at the forefront of what our magazine is all about. We are always looking for essays done for class or general essays in the same style that you would find in any other magazine. Our intention with article submissions is to publish them as widely as possible. It is a great opportunity for those looking for a career in journalism.

COMICS

In the past, The Confluence has published student comics. It has been a dream of mine to have comics in the magazine, and I hope that students will take advantage and submit their work.

POETRY

If there was one language in the world that everyone can understand, it is poetry. The art of words can be powerful, and we have had a great amount of people submit powerful poetry. As someone who writes poetry myself, I am always looking to be a fan of some more of our student.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Many of the covers that you can see in our catalogue of Confluence issues have your photography on the front. We have worked with many student-photographers and are looking for more! We will also accept portfolios to be sold to the Confluence, i.e. photos of students on campus, or of CNC events.

VIDEO SUBMISSIONS

New to The Confluence, is video submissions! Whether it be vlogs, creative videos, documentaries, footage of events, life stories, whatever. We will be accepting them. They can be published to the official Facebook page and Youtube. We will also give credit and link people to any social media you may have!
