

Guntas Kanda: Office Services Coordinator

You may already know her, or her name may sound brand new. Guntas has been working in the Student Union for nearly a month and she has already become a huge part of our little work family. She was hired on as the Office Services Coordinator, which involves reading policies, assisting in event organizing, but most importantly, she is here to serve the students. Because Guntas is multi-lingual, she is passionate about creating a space where students can speak comfortably in their first language. She wants everyone, whether English or other, to always be on the same page, and her multi-lingual tongue allows her to do just that. With Guntas still being fairly new to the Student's Union staff, she is focusing her energy on being a "sponge," meaning she wants to soak up as much information as possible. As for her history, in both work and school, Guntas completed a Bachelor's of Commerce in India, and further completed a Post-Diploma in Human Resources Management right here, at CNC. Guntas also has a strong background in Human Resources as well as customer service, which is always an extremely valuable skill.

With Guntas having been a student at CNC prior to being hired, she feels lucky to have seen both sides of the college. This far she has taken in her job with open arms, as she has seen the impact that the Student Union has on students, and how much her job truly matters. Guntas is thankful that her job is not always "the same monotonous tasks," as each student has their own different individual needs and concerns, which she is always happy to help with.

If Guntas had to leave one message with the students, it would be: "We are always here for you."
